

Ta'allum Schools open doors to parents, vibrant school displays draw attention

Parents were out in force in the Ta'allum Early Years and Primary schools at Al Maha Academies and Al Jazeera Academy as they opened their doors for parent meetings.

Beautiful displays adorned corridors, celebrating students' work in the thematic Primary curriculum, while teachers met with parents in classrooms. Afterwards they were asked to complete surveys so that leaders could consider their views.

Some scenes during Saturday's Parent-Teacher Conference. Lower left: Tablets and survey forms drew feedback from parents on teachers, the school, and other matters of common interest.

Seen at the 3 academies, these displays are linked to the thematic curriculum in Primary schools.

Creative learners today, our future leaders tomorrow.
